Napkin holder
By Sara Bertisch

Beauty is in the eye of the beholder.
whether one beholds a living being or a napkin holder.
Critical judgment comes easy, finding positive attributes less so.
When reacting to a child's creative endeavor, it is advisable to strive towards the latter.

A kid who .Self-confidence is fragile, that much more in a child has been put down in early childhood may develop lifelong insecurity.
Let us all seek the beauty in napkin holders created by our children.
thereby encouraging self-expression and individualism.
