My first week in Australia

Helen and I arrived here last night. This morning we went to the Marakoopa Cave*. It was a strange and wonderful place! There's a river in the cave. We went on a boat ride which was scary because in some places it was very dark. Sometimes the ride was really fast but it was so much fun! What an adventure! ### MARLA RUNYAN

by Rona Myle

Marla Runyan is an Olympic athlete. She amazed the world when she reached eighth place in the 1500-meter race at the Olympic Games in Sydney, Australia. This is a great achievement* for anyone. But it is even more special because Marla is almost blind!

Marla Runyan wasn't always blind. She only started to have problems with her eyes when she was nine years old. At first, Marla couldn't see the blackboard very well and had trouble reading, so her parents took her to an eye doctor. The doctor told them that Marla had a disease that would make her almost blind. As Marla grew older, she found it more and more difficult to see. When she was twelve years old, she stopped playing football because it was hard for her to see the ball. So Marla started to run and soon became an excellent runner.

Marla first started running races in the 1992 Paralympics, the Olympic Games for physically-challenged* athletes. After winning many races in the Paralympics, Marla dreamed of being on the American Olympic team. She worked hard to achieve this goal and in 2000, Marla made history by becoming the first almost blind athlete to run in the Olympics.

Marla is not just a great athlete. She has worked very hard to achieve other goals*. She studied at university and became a teacher, which is not easy for a person who is almost blind. Marla now teaches children who are blind or deaf.

Marla has also written a book called No Finish Line: My Life as I See It. In her book, she describes the long road to success – from being an almost blind child to being one of the world's greatest athletes. Marla believes that real winners are people who work hard to reach their goals. She is an example to us all.
